MUKILTEO IN THE NEWS—AUTUMN 1934

By Neil Anderson

Recently, I was fortunate to obtain a collection of Everett Daily Herald newspapers for the year 1934. The months of September through December of 1934 to be specific. My father was raised in Mukilteo at his childhood home on the northwest corner of 4th and Loveland. He would have been ten years old in 1934. These were difficult times. His father lost his job with the closing of the Crown Lumber Company in 1930. He had many interesting, fun and not so fun stories about his childhood years and I enjoyed hearing all of his stories. I now looked forward to reading these 1934 newspapers. Hoping the papers would shed even more light regarding everyday life in Mukilteo during the early 1930's.

Passing the time away, fishing near the Mukilteo Ferry Dock in 1939, with a lumber steamer outbound from Everett in the background.

er, the Crown Lumber Company, had closed four years earlier leaving the town in a very difficult situation. In this brief snapshot in time, it seems as if the people of Mukilteo simply went about the business of finding a way to survive. Perhaps the priority was simply to find a way to put food on the table and keeping a roof over their heads while hoping for better days to come.

I hope the readers enjoy the following news excerpts from the Everett Daily Herald during the autumn of 1934:

September 10, 1934: George Vidis of the Edgewater Farms on the Mukilteo Hwy was proudly displaying his tall cornstalk of 15' 1" in height and beanstalk of 11' 3" in height at a local market.

October 11, 1934: Herald editorial commends the decision to proceed with the construction of the Tulalip-Warm Beach Road, a segment of the Marine View Drive. Perhaps greater importance is the future continuation of the road southward to Marysville, Everett, Mukilteo and Edmonds. A drive of scenic interest.

Thumbing through the 1934 Herald newspapers was fun and informative. Locally, Everett and Snohomish took much of the print space in comparison to other less populated towns such as Marysville, Langley, Monroe, Intercity, Hartford, Lake Stevens, Cathcart, Sultan and Lowell. Reviewing these particular papers, I soon discovered that Mukilteo was only mentioned sporadically. Far fewer newsworthy notes, stories and society news items. Could it be that Mukilteo was perhaps feeling the effects of the Great Depression more so than the neighboring towns? The largest employ-

Crown Lumber buildings burned on August 30, 1938. This site is now becoming the new Washington State Ferry Terminal.

A MESSAGE FROM OUR PRESIDENT

January has been jam-packed with MHS plans for 2020. The Board has not changed significantly in the past few years, which provides stability. We have one new Board member: Tina Saunders has assumed Sally Morrison's position of First Vice-President when she retired at the end of 2019. Sally will be missed and we plan to continue to work with her in other roles.

I'm honored to be a member of this Board and organization. I learned so much in 2019 and 2020 will be another educational adventure with unexpected challenges and opportunities.

The Board retreat on January 4th was a thoughtful planning session for the year ahead. The following major goals were accepted, using the MHS mission statement as a guide. These were presented at the January 9th general membership meeting.

Mukilteo. Chad Kaiser, lighthouse/lens specialist will be asked to join. MHS will continue to support the City of Mukilteo in their efforts to replace the existing roof. New plantation shutters will be purchased for Quarters B, in phases.

- ♦ Two docent hosted lighthouse/cemetery tours have been scheduled for 2020 and advertised in the recreation guide as another community opportunity to visit. There is a plan to expand hours on holidays and during the Lighthouse Festival.
- ♦ The publicity plan will be refreshed to make it fun and relevant. Our social media presence will be expanded with photo contests. A custom open/closed sign for the door of the lighthouse is being investigated, offering more detail about when we are open.

On January 30st, the Board held their annual meeting with committee chairs to review 2020 budgets and plans. MHS treasurer,

“Two docent hosted lighthouse/cemetery tours have been scheduled for 2020 and advertised in the recreation guide as another community opportunity to visit. There is a plan to expand hours on holidays and during the Lighthouse Festival.”

- ♦ The Archive Team will continue to develop online access to 200 historical archive records and 200 photo archives to build on their success last year. The team will work with the Technology team to purchase a flatbed scanner to accommodate large print materials and hardware/software needed.
- ♦ Disaster planning is a priority, with plans to utilize fireproof storage cabinets and consolidate MHS administrative history so it's in one location and accessible to all Board members.
- ♦ The Exhibit Committee has a library exhibit scheduled for September and has fun theme ideas. An interpretive sign for the fog horn/baffle is being worked. The team would like to create an interpretive sign, exhibit or marker on site to honor the local tribes.
- ♦ A preservation team will be created to develop long-term plans for the light station, coordinating with the City of Al Friedrich, drafted the budget prior to the meeting and finalized it in real time as each chair made their request, which improved the process. Committee chairs and their teams have an important role and work long hours to manage their responsibilities. Thousands of volunteer hours are worked each year to deploy these plans. If you are interested in helping out on any of these projects, reach out because we need help.

Sue Anderson is in the process of buying items to stock the gift shop. Her assistant, Sherry Steele, will work with her to price and display the items. March is a bustle of activity as we prepare the lighthouse for a season of curious visitors, including annual cleaning day and volunteer training sessions. Check the calendar for dates. Opening Day is Saturday, April 4th! Here's to another exciting year!

~JOANNE MULLOY, PRESIDENT

In Memoriam

The Mukilteo Historical Society is saddened by the recent deaths of two Pioneers of the Year, Madeline LaBeau Kuykendall, Pioneer of the Year in 2013, and Mary Lou Hogland Holtgeerts, Pioneer of the Year in 2016 along with her sister, Kay Hogland Scheller.

Madeline LaBeau Kuykendall (1923-2019) was born in Seattle and came to Mukilteo when she was three days old, adopted by Kate and Louie LaBeau. Madeline was raised in the LaBeau home at the corner of Loveland Ave. and Fifth Street, attending Rosehill School and Everett High. Madeline's mother, Kate, was one of four daughters of Louis and Mary Foster, proprietors of Mukilteo's Bay View Hotel in the early 1900s. Madeline traveled to many countries and lived elsewhere, but Mukilteo was always home. Renee Ripley is Madeline's niece. MHS extends its condolences to all of Madeline's family and friends.

Mary Lou Hogland Holtgeerts (1936-2020) was born in Everett to Everett and Valeria Hogland and moved to Mukilteo at the age of six when her parents bought the McNab house on Webster Street. Mary Lou attended Rosehill School and Everett High. She married Ken Holtgeerts, who served on the Mukilteo City Council in the 1970s. They had three children, and Mary Lou was a Cub Scout leader, Campfire Girls leader, and active with the Mukilteo Boys Club and the Presbyterian Church. Mary Lou's sister, Kay Hogland Scheller is the owner of Mukilteo's Hogland House B&B, the house they grew up in. MHS sends condolences to Mary Lou's family and friends.

Agnes and Elaine Scheib walking the Great Northern railway tracks in 1938. The Crown Lumber Company store is on the left and Brennan's store is on the right. The car is crossing the tracks at Park Ave. Notice the Crown Lumber smokestack in the background on the left.

November 2, 1934: The women of St. John's Catholic Parish will hold a card party at the church hall at 8 pm on November 3rd.

November 3, 1934: An earthquake rattles Mukilteo and the Puget Sound area at 6:52 am. No Damage reported.

November 7, 1934: Lloyd Black of Mukilteo led a delegation of Mukilteo residents presenting a proposal before the Everett Port Commission to establish a small boat moorage facility in the low area near the Lighthouse.

November 8, 1934: Thieves entered the Rosehill School and opened the school safe. Luckily the safe was empty although the culprits broke a school window to gain entry. Sheriff Deputies Ryan and Plymale investigated.

November 15, 1934: The Mukilteo group of the Continental Committee on Technocracy will hold a basket social next Friday evening at 7:30 pm at the Royal Neighbors Hall. The evening will conclude with cards and dancing.

November 20, 1934: The Everett Daily Herald noted in the "Twenty Years Ago" history column that on November 20, 1914, Ray Donovan encountered a cougar on the Mukilteo-Everett Road while walking home.

November 28, 1934: A meeting was held at the Rosehill School to discuss the proposed development of a small boat refuge on the low ground near the Point Elliott Light Station. It was explained that this is the area where the dike broke. Residents suggested taking advantage of the natural opening. The proposal will go on the port ballot next Saturday. If approved, proponents will apply to the federal government for funds for dredging and construction work.

December 8, 1934: After drifting 20 hours in his rowboat, J. Dressler of Mukilteo was picked up by a ferry on the Edmonds-Kingston run. Mr. Dressler had left Whidbey Island bound for his Mukilteo home but lost his bearings in heavy fog. He drifted all night before being picked up by the passing ferry.

December 8, 1934: Teams from the Boys Community Basketball League will be in action during the coming week. Mukilteo will field two teams, Model Cream Bakery and White Star Transfer. Other area teams in play included Trinity Episcopal, Eclipse Mill, Robinson Manufacturing, Kozy Lunch, Eggert Mercantile and the Lowell Odd Fellows Lodge.

December 11, 1934: Rosehill School principal Mr. Fry was a guest speaker at the Wilson school on Casino Road.

The year 1934 would close out without much fanfare. I suspect like much of the country, the Mukilteo townspeople could only wonder what the new year of 1935 would bring.

October 20, 1934: Tonight, Mukilteo residents could gather in their living rooms and tune their radios to station KJR at 7:30 pm and listen to President Franklin D. Roosevelt. Followed at 8pm with the Highlight Hour show and the news at 9 pm. Also, station KOMO would carry President Roosevelt at 7:30 pm. Listeners could stay tuned to KOMO and enjoy the popular show, Amos 'n' Andy, at 8pm. The George & Glenn show would follow.

October 31, 1934: Pranksters all over the area were warned to leave mailboxes alone this Halloween. Those apprehended for tampering with letter boxes in the County will be held to answer to federal courts.

CEMETERY CORNER

The roots that run beneath the graves in the Pioneer Cemetery connect the Davis family, in the southwest corner, with the Fowler family. Such was the claim made by Mary Harvick Davis, the mother of Abbie and Viola Davis, whose daughters are buried in that corner.

Mary Harvick was married at age 14 to logger John H. Davis by Morris H. Frost, acting as Justice of the Peace.

In 1917 Mary gave a deposition applying for tribal land allotments for herself and her children. She stated:

"That my mother was - an Indian of the full Skagit River Indian blood, her name was Susie - as near as I can learn - and died when I was two months of age, at Coupeville, Island Co., Washington. That my mother's father was a full blood of the Skagit tribe - who was named S'Kul-kadum, he died at his home near the Skagit River during 1893. He came very often to visit our home during my early childhood. He never told me of my mother's mother, and I have no more evidence of my mother's parents."

"I have a sister - Jennie Havrick - who is about three years older than I am; her whereabouts I do not know, but the last time I met her she was in Everett, Wash., and said she was to move to Whidbey Island - and have not heard of her since, this was four years ago. Mrs. Louisa Sinclair of Mukilteo, Wash., is a first cousin of mine, Mrs. Louisa Sinclair and my mother were sisters."

The dates and the spellings on this typewritten (no doubt dictated) document are inconsistent. Yet one is not easily mistaken as to so close a relationship. Susie Harvick and Mary Fowler were sisters, according to Mary's statement. Mary Fowler's father has come down to us through Louisa Fowler as S'deh-ap-kan and her mother as De-da-Bessa. Mary was about five years older than her sister Susie, as best I can tell.

MUKILTEO HISTORICAL SOCIETY SCHOLARSHIP

The deadline for the Mukilteo Historical Society's essay contest is just about here. The last day to submit an essay about someone, something, or some event in Mukilteo's past is March 31st. This one year $1,500 college or trade school scholarship will be awarded to the student who submits a winning essay about some aspect of Mukilteo history. The award will be applied to tuition expense in the winner's name to the school selected by the winner.

The winner must be a high school graduating student or equivalent who either lives in or is the child or grandchild of someone living in the Mukilteo School District. Home schooled students may submit essays provided they will be eligible to enroll in a post-secondary school in the Fall of the contest year. Complete contest rules and how to submit an entry can be found by clicking Scholarships on the main menu of the Society's website www.mukilteohistorical.org. If you know a qualified student, be sure to remind him or her of this opportunity!

The Board's purpose in establishing the award is to encourage interest in Mukilteo history among high school age persons in the area and among the population in general. Secondly, the contest entries will add to the Society's trove of Mukilteo stories.

GIFT SHOP NEWS

Recently, Joanne Mulloy, Pat Friedrich, Sherry Steele, and Sue Anderson attended the Seattle Mart Gift Show in preparation for the upcoming season. This gift show takes place in a three-story building that houses many vendor representatives from across the Northwest. Seeing the different merchandise feels like being a kid in a candy store! So many options to choose from that we need to be able to fit in our gift shop.

Last year Jody Bergsma announced her semi-retirement. Jody supplied the Bev & Jody mugs, coasters, note cards, magnets, and more. She closed her studio in 2019 and moved into her basement to continue work on a small scale. Fortunately for us, she eventually decided retirement was not for her. We met up with Jody at the Seattle Mart where she showed us some of her new products which we will have in stock at the gift shop this year.

Many thanks to Becky and Mitch Owensby, in advance, for receiving shipments at their home and delivering them to the gift shop. Also, a warm welcome to our newest team member, Sherry Steele, who comes to us with previous retail experience. If any volunteers would like to help receive, price, and stock shelves as merchandise is received please contact Sue Anderson. Shipments should arrive any day. Be the first to see the new stock! We also need volunteers to help restock shelves and straighten up during the week when we open for the season. The more volunteers we have, the quicker it will go. Volunteering is a fun way to see what the popular items are and to be part of "Team Gift Shop."

If you are unable to volunteer for a full day, we have split shift options too. Please consider signing up for the on-call list. We look forward to seeing our seasoned and new volunteers this season. -Sue Anderson and Sherry Steele

The above tapestry pillow is one of our "staple" items. We also carry the matching throw with a number of different lighthouses, including the Mukilteo lighthouse
